

Teleconferencing

Communication with no physical contact required

Teleconferencing is a reliable tool facilitating collaboration and communication with customers, employees and business partners from across the globe. It allows you to organize global conference calls in an easy and comfortable way. Your project teams can now communicate regardless of location and time. You will save time and reduce travel expenses.

Teleconferencing provides a simple and cost-effective way of making phone calls between individuals and groups. Companies of all sizes can use this to improve communication between their staff in different locations.

Services and advanced features in digital quality can be combined and tailored to a specific purpose.

Audio conferences are suitable for trainings, internal meetings and discussions.

Teleconferencing calls can be made 24 hours a day – simply, anywhere in the world, and without any previous reservation. You just call a specific number, enter your access code, and start communicating using your phone.

Service advantages

- Simple use and excellent sound quality
- Great solution to ensure business continuity
- Improved productivity and reduced travel expenses
- Facilitates communication and decision-making
- Teleconference access at any time and anywhere in the world using a land-line or a mobile phone
- Full 24/7 proactive support by our monitoring centre

Service use

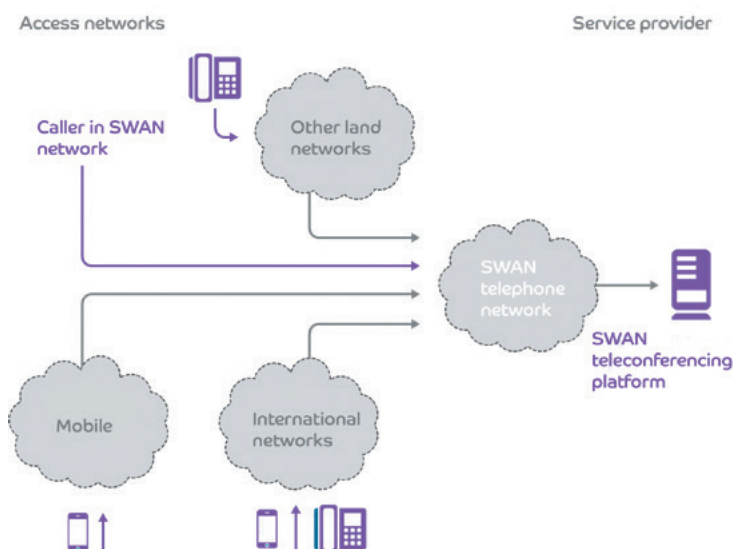

- Ensures business continuity
- Compliance with quarantine and social distancing requirements
- Efficient communication between employees, suppliers and customers
- Possibility to connect from your office, home, backyard or car
- Organisation of weekly or monthly management meetings
- Up to 30 participants on a single conference call

This complex teleconferencing solution offers:

Independence and availability of teleconferencing from all land-line and mobile networks | Access numbers: local, toll-free (0800) or shared cost (0850) numbers | Excellent technical standards provide high-quality audio conferences with no dropouts | Full web-based call control and different features: dial-out, mute, disconnect and more | Simple control and distribution of invitations, access and PIN codes to participants | Teleconference recording

Participants can connect from anywhere in the world using any type of phone (analogue, digital, mobile).

For more information on pricing and special promotions, please contact your Sales Manager, or send an email to csc@swan.sk.